VOL. 32, NO. 34

CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA.

FRIDAY, FEB. 18, 1927

Rainfall being above normal in Tulare county, feed conditions in both the lowlands and the foothills are exceptionally fine.

During the past year there has been a gain of 27 per cent in the poultry industry in the western section of the San Fernando valley.

Lettuce shipments at El Centro are still slightly below those up to the same date last year, but daily shipments at present are now surpassing those of the same days in 1926 and it is believed that the season's totals will be larger than those of the preceding season.

In the steady procession of newer grasses being tried out near Fresno, several stand out from the crowd with particular prominence. They are the medics, or annual alfalfas, Harding Grass, or Sweet Tussac, is another which has found the San Joaquin valley to its liking.

That the cotton grown in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys is the best grown anywhere in the world was the declaration made in Gerber by J. E. Grant, noted cotton authority from Columbus, Ga., who is winding up an inspection tour of the cotton areas of the United States.

Carlot shipments of sheep have commenced at Holtville with the movement of three carloads from the Cudahy Packing company yards and two more from the Russell Thompson flocks. Hay shipments are going forward also, several cars having been billed to Los Angeles recently.

At the John Almada ranch, near Napa Junction, a ewe gave birth to four lambs, all living. The mother is not able to nurse the lambs and two of them are being raised with a bottle and nipple. Three other ewes on the ranch recently gave birth to triplets and the offspring are thriving.

Large shipments of early fall and winter vegetables, grown in the "North End" of Imperial valley have been going out from Calipatria for the past three months. Cucumbers and green bell, chili and Spanish peppers, grown from volunteer plants, were the first to go out and were followed about October 20, by the first early peas.

Smashing all cotton sales records at Bakersfield for the season forty-four bales of high-grade cotton were sold at short time ago by A. H. Swain manager of the cotton sales agency of the farm bureau, at a price of $16.02. Another lot of sixteen bales sold at $13.85 to L. C. Perkins for Morgan and Company. The market closed at $13.71.

Some interesting facts with regard to farm home equipment in Kings county are disclosed by the survey completed by the American Home Department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. These statistics, based on a survey of 176 homes in which club members live, indicate that 155 are owned by the occupants and twenty-one are rented. The total acreage of these farms is 16,156.

The sponsors for the seventeenth National Orange Show, to be held at San Bernardino February 17 to 27, promise that the education features, including the citrus institute, will be more adequate for the industry than ever before. The participation of the citrus experiment station, county farm bureaus and county horticultural commissions will be even more complete this year than it has been in the past.

Removal and destruction of badly infected trees and the spraying of trees, bushes and shrubbery in cases where there is hope of saving, will be the plan of W. B. Childs of the state department of agriculture, who has arrived to take charge of the white fly plague in the Yuba City territory. Work will start south of Yuba City and the west side of Feather River will be treated thoroughly before the war is carried to the Yuba county side.

W. J. Stewart, a dairyman operating north of Holtville, has built a trench silo fifteen feet wide, forty feet long and eight feet deep. Its capacity is about fifty-five tons. The cost consisted entirely of labor done by Mr. Stewart and his son, using a team and a scraper. Stewart estimates that if this labor had been hired it would have cost from $50 to $60. This type of silo is being used successfully in other parts of California and is regarded as of particular value for renters and dairymen only temporarily on the land they farm.

The possibility of a bank at Roscoe became a probability a short time ago when Los Angeles capitalists and bankers visited Roscoe for a survey. The business houses and a large number of depositors signified their intention of patronizing the bank. Whether the new institution will be a branch of one of the large Los Angeles banks or will be organized as an individual state bank has not yet been announced.

Children in the Trinity county schools are to have instilled in them a sense of loyalty to the county as well as to the state and nation. A handbook dealing with the history of the county, the work of Superior Judge James W. Bartlett, one of the pioneer residents of the county, has been prepared for use in the grammar grades. Practically all of the incidents related are from the personal knowledge of the jurist.

The frequently raised question as to whether high school graduates really know much about the so-called fundamentals of education is about to be settled at last by a state "knowledge test," Richard J. Werner, state commissioner of secondary schools, announced he will try to answer the question in California by a state-wide test on English, mathematics, spelling and other "fundamentals" for all students about to graduate from the high school.

W. H. MASON IN AUTO WRECK

Mr. W. H. Mason has recently arrived here from Klamath Falls where he was located with Southern Pacific R. R. Co., but has been assigned to Camubell district as selling agent and solicitor for the Devonshire Country Club and home properties at San Carlos, under direct supervision of Mr. A. D. Renfro of 1490 Market Street, San Francisco. Mr. Mason resides with his father W. C. Mason on the San Tomas Road who is also in business here.

The car of W. H. Mason was badly damaged in a crash near Atherton Sunday and the damage to the extent of several hundred dollars was promptly repaired by the Royal Auto Club in which the car was insured.

Mr. Alex M. Reid of San Francisco the hit-run-driver was captured two miles from the scene of the accident by Mr. Mason with the aid of the traffic officer at Redwood City.

Mr. Reid acknowledged his guilt and will be tried in police court in Redwood City, Feb. 18.

500 PARTY

On Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Snow entertained a company of friends at their home at a Valentine party.

The rooms were attractively decorated with valentine motifs and the favors and refreshments were also in keeping with the season. "500" was the principal diversion of the evening, honors being scored by Mrs. Lea and Mr. Mason, and the consolidation gift was awarded to Mr. Ohlen.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Cribbs of Palo Alto, Mr. Guy Chadwick of San Jose, Mrs. Ivy Tucker, temporarily at Palo Alto, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lea, Mr. and Mrs. Ohlen and Mr. Harold of Campbell.

LEGISLATIVE BILLS AT THE LIBRARY

The Santa Clara County Delegation at the state legislature has had complete sets of all bills introduced at the present session, sent to the Campbell Library.

The bills are in folders which makes them much more satisfactory to use. They are for the use of the general public.

If, however, particular bills are desired by anyone, they can be obtained by writing to any of the following parties.

tary of the Senate, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, or any member of the County Legislative Delegation.

CHOIR PARTY

The choir of the Congregational church was most delightfully entertained last Thursday evening at a choir party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Worthin Gratton, Mrs. Gratton being one of its highly valued members.

An interesting variety of games was played, both new and old. A clever little story, in which blanks were filled out by the use of abbreviations of the names of states kept the contestants busy for several minutes.

Partners for refreshments were chosen by means of gum drop hearts fastened to strings which depended from a box and were chosen by the various guests. When untangled partners held opposite ends of the strings.

In keeping with the Valentine season, strings of hearts decorated the room and when the plates were brought in each bore a little lighted red candle fastened upon a red heart. In the darkened rooms, the effect was very pretty.

The evening was a thoroughly enjoyable one and the members hope for others in the not distant future.

CAMPBELL KIWANIS PUTS ON MINSTREL

Chocolate Daddy! Dat am sho some live bunch. Hot Ziggidy! I wouldn't miss it for the world. The minstrel performance of the Kiwanis Club will be a big hit and the latest and biggest stunt of all is the headliner performance by the Aerial Bartletts who have just returned from a vaudeville circuit. This one act is worth all you pay for the entire show.

Kiwanians enjoyed a trip to Yosemite Wednesday when Frank Cutting exhibited about twenty oil paintings of beautiful scenes of that wonderland as seen by the artist's eye.

Louis Shelley one of Campbell's poultry producers was initiated into the ideals of Kiwanis the lecture and instructions being given by Ed Wiesendanger.

Dr. DeVoss of State Teachers College and Frank Hart of Anoka, Minn., were visitors at the luncheon. The Campbell Kiwanians will take lunch with the Mountain Viewers next Wednesday and Ralph Hyde has charge of transportation. If you prefer riding to walking see him about your statement and berth tickets.

Campfires Emmi Berry and Ebba Swanson served at the tables.

W C T U HOLDS CAMPBELL INSTITUTE

The Campbell Woman's Christian Temperance Union held an Institute on Tuesday, Feb. 15th, under the leadership of Mrs. Jessie G. Heath. After the devotional service, Mrs. Hollingsworth, the county president, gave these points on "How to get the most out of an Institute. Get in the habit of attending and invite others to come. Take part in the discussion and tell at least ten persons of the fine things you heard, and last, but not least plan a simple luncheon, so that all may profit by the talks of the leader.

Mrs. Heath then gave the objectives of the organization for the coming year and discussed topics of interest. Following the noon-tide song those present gathered at the luncheon table. Before leaving the dining room, Rev. W. C. Robins gave a fine talk on "Some good things that have been done by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union," and by Rev. Mr. Bennett upon "Temperance in England," which was very much enjoyed.

The afternoon session consisted of a song and prayer service, vocal solos by Mrs. Heath and a talk upon "What California is doing for the drug addicts."

Some of the points brought out by the leader on "The Milestones to Peace," were: First, emphasize the havoc made by war, rather than its glory. Second, give as great, or greater, honor to those who serve our country in peaceful times as is given to our so-called military heroes, and a true teaching of history in our school text books. "What we ask and demand, will be," she said in closing.

Just before the offering "Alfaretta gave "The reason why I do not wear feathers."

The Union expresses its hearty thanks and appreciation to the trustees of the Methodist church, the local pastors, and all those who by their help and presence made the Institute a success.

California's fall and spring carrot acreage will total more than 3,195 acres, or almost three times that of the 1925-26 crop. This is according to a forecast made by the state department of agriculture. Of the total for the present season, the Santa Maria-Guadalupe section will plant 1,750 acres, the report said. Salinas and Watsonville will add 170 acres, and San Mateo county 70, Sacramento 80, Los Angeles 200, Ventura 550, San Diego 150, and Imperial 225 acres.

C OF C VOTES PRUNE WEEK CONTINUANCE

It was voted that the Chamber pay the luncheon expense of its representatives at the Consolidated meetings in the future. The highway committee recommended several street improvements and the matter was left for reference to supervisor McKinnon who will be conferred with by the committee.

THE INDOMITABLE SPIRIT OF WASHINGTON

Is there a man in America today who could display the courage, endure the hardships and equal the indomitable spirit of George Washington, the man who was "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen?" The proposition is put in interrogative form for emphasis, of course; but we believe it to be a fair question and worthy of its thought-provoking form.

We talk about our captains of industry, we praise the men who pioneer for gold; we eulogize our statesmen for consummating great treaties and forming peaceful international alliances; we point with pride to the men and women who physically conquer the ocean channels, who win the football and tennis matches, or the men who knock one another across the ropes of a padded ring. But there is the man who, if the situation presented itself today, could take a handful of colonies and weld them into a new nation—a nation formed as against the alleged encroachments of a sovereign on one side and savages on the other. Nothing but indomitable will—the spirit that is not to be subdued—could accomplish such a result.

Washington was human and had his faults. But he had the strength of character to stand by his and his countrymen's convictions. He was a leader, and had the qualities that are essential to leadership. Physically hardship did not mark the greater part of his career, for as riches go he did not share the lot of the poor; although the moderately poor man of today has more conveniences and comforts than had he. Washington was predominately among those who marked out the nation's destiny. All English speaking people, and many of foreign tongue, pay homage to him and to the place he so ably filled in defining what henceforth was to be one great, but friendly, distinction between the old world and the new.

CANADA'S CALL

Canada has taken a forward step of vital importance. People not only make a world, but a world full of good people makes a good world. Canada wants farm help and is determined to get it. Extremely low rates are offered by the Canadian government in connection with the great trunk railways in a call for 14,000 farm workers or 3000 families to help in the development of the great agricultural provinces.

One means of attracting people is by advertising. Another is by offering inducements. Thrifty, industrious men and women will answer such a call. The appeal is made especially to the British. And in bringing these people across the Atlantic, Canada is consistent in showing her inclination to keep the Dominion predominately British in fact as well as in tradition and heritage.

WHAT IS NEWS?

The old story goes: if a dog bites a man, that's not news; if a man bites a dog, that's news.

Our version is: if some reader fails to scan the advertisements, that's news, but we don't like to print it.

If a reader fails to pay his subscription, that's not news; if he pays up, that's news, that's music to our ears.

If we go out after an advertisement and get it, that's good news and the world of ours knows it; but we fail to get it, that's tough luck.

We met a fellow the other day who said he used to teach a memory course but blamed if he could remember how he did it. About as consistent as the man who says he won't advertise until the business makes enough to advertise with.

Your home and your job isn't yours unless you work for them. Neither is your town unless you work for it.

L. T. Cook Passes

Word was received yesterday of the death of Mr. Lindsay T. Cook, one of the early residents of Campbell, who had been living at Burlingame for the last few years. Mr. Cook was a highly esteemed man of our community and there are many here to mourn his passing.

He is survived by his wife, Maggie Lovell Cook, and daughters, Adella and Gertrude who are extended sincere sympathy. The deceased was a native of Missouri aged 82 years and 8 months. Funeral services were held from the First Methodist church in Burlingame yesterday forenoon.

People of Calif. Will Restore S. C. Mission

Pacific breezes which dance through gray adobe ruins of the Old Mission of Santa Clara chant a dirge, of art in distress.

On the dawn of October 25, last, fire within a few hours destroyed this heritage of a romantic past.

But today hope springs from the ancient Mission walls. Banded together under the standards of art and history, men of all religious affiliations have formulated plans for a civic campaign to raise funds for the restoration of the historic structure.

It is proposed by the loyal friends of art and history, functioning under A. B. Post, Banker and Chairman of the County Committee, to intensify a campaign from February 14 to 19 to raise funds of $75,000 toward the $150,000 which has been fixed by engineers and architects as being necessary to produce in permanent materials a replica of the structure built 150 years ago. Special campaign committees are being formed in every city in Santa Clara Valley to aid in the cause of art.

Santa Clara's Old Mission, following its restoration, is expected to form one of the most impelling tourist attractions in California. It has been relieved of all parish obligations and will stand as a monument of history to connect California of today with the romance of yesterday.

Officers of the Old Mission Committee are:

Judge Charles A. Thompson, General Chairman; Alfred B. Post, County Chairman; Frank C. Mitchell, Central Committee Chairman; P. J. Martin, Vice-Chairman and Treasurer.

Members of the Old Mission Committee are:

George Abel, Mrs. Geo. Abel, Robert F. Benson, Bruno Bisceglia, R. H. Borchers, Richard V. Bressani, Harry Canelo, Victor Challen, Victor A. Char-

CAMPBELL TEAMS PLAY LAST GAMES

The Campbell teams will play San Jose Friday, Feb. 18, in the gym at 7:45 p. m.

This is the last game that the Campbell boys will play in the P. A. L. this season.

The unlimited team defeated Sequoia Tuesday night, by the score of 25 to 19. The team played a fast game and showed a fine spirit.

The 130's played a fine game but the Sequoia lads were too good a match for them.

The game Friday night is the last this season and the players would very much appreciate a big attendance.

SPLASH!

The high school students are having a grand time keeping their feet dry these rainy days. The stove downstairs is a favorite place for those who are unlucky enough to get caught in sudden showers.

The path from the high school to the annex is sadly in need of repair, being full of puddles and generously filled with mud. Some of the ground has been newly plowed, and, as a result of this rain, is very soft. The top surface, being washed quite smooth, is very substantial looking. On one occasion a girl was seen on her way to the annex who thought she could avoid the water on the path; she chose a wider path over this very substantial looking surface. She stepped and sank, uttering a very long drawn out Oooooooh! That is just one of the many unfortunate incidents that occur on a rainy day at school.—Evelyn Jensen.

THE WILD LIFE PROTECTION CAMPAIGN

Against the great army of hunters, sportsmen, pathhunters, and alien-songbird killers, market-hunters, and all the killers of wild life, too numerous to mention, numbering at least 5,500,000, there has risen at last a small army of defense. For several years a few people have realized that we must soon, and very soon, strengthen our game laws and cut down the deadly game bay limits at least fifty percent, if we do not wish to leave to the future generation a gameless America.

Boys all over America have banded together into one company and have begun a campaign against the great horde of wild life destroyers, calling themselves "The Wild Life Protection Campaign." It was organized about nine months ago by Glen T. Hickman of Arkansas, who is now President of the organization. They chose the motto, "Service to our Nation," and the slogan "Now or Never."

It costs nothing to join. If you wish to help preserve the game that is not now extinct, send a letter to Harry Leiser, Fontana, California, who is secretary of the west.—Theodore Anderson.

America's Greatest Sport

As the basketball season draws to an end, the baseball is let out of the bag of sports. The diamond at the high school has recently been put into shape and as soon as the stormy weather is over one may see the entire field filled with boys who wish to try out for baseball and who wish to learn America's leading sport.

Baseball has always been the favorite sport of the American boy and has in the recent years been coming to the front in various other countries, which in previous years had thought of baseball as we do probably of their national sports. England has its cricket, which is on the order of America's baseball. But they also play baseball there, showing that is also coming into the sporting life of the English people. The game affords a desirable thrill for a crowd of people who, working all week, enjoy their Sundays by visiting the ball game. Be sure to come to see America's greatest sport, baseball, played at the high school ball grounds. The high school will have games with other schools and would like to have a big crowd out to their games as a tribute to the true American greatest game, baseball.—S. Merrill.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Department of Justice

The editor has kindly offered space for a weekly talk by the "judge." In it I shall try to discuss subjects of interest to the public from the viewpoint of law enforcement. Such publicity is wholly an experiment, perhaps never attempted in this way before, and we shall have to learn how to do it by trying.

Sigmund Freud, psychologist, says, "When they are offered by a beloved person, arguments may later be admitted and subjected to critical reflection. Arguments without such support avail nothing, and never mean anything in the life of most persons."

In other words, to express the idea more mildly, we don't work very well together, or pay much attention to each other's opinions, unless there is between us a good feeling. To cooperate, we need to like each other.

Whatever is said in these weekly talks, then, will be intended to help along the feeling that makes for good team work. We all agree, I think, that the fewer arrests and trials we have the better. Such things are an expense to individuals and to the county, and getting his name on the court records doesn't do any good to a fellows reputation. Most of us can behave ourselves just as easily before we are arrested as afterwards. Generally a little thinking, a little self-control, and a little exercise of judgment, will keep any one from the hands of the traffic officer or the peace officer.

Incidentally, the "judge" would like to have a few letters. Write, briefly, saying what you'd like to have done. Personally, I think our town is too noisy—too many open mufflers, and too much speeding through the center of town. I'll quit if you will. Perhaps you'll want to write about that or something else. If you like, put your suggestion in the form of a question; just say, "Why can't we have.....?" whatever it is you have on your mind. Sign your name and address your envelope to the Department of Justice, Campbell.

GIRL'S ATHLETICS

Under the new system of the G. P. A. L. (Girl's Peninsula Athletic League), which was introduced last year, the girls no longer have interscholastic leagues. The girls have class teams and interclass games. Our basketball season having ended, the girls are looking forward to the volleyball season. Each class has one day a week set off for it's practice, which is usually held after school. When the teams are selected the inter-class games are played. The girls who compose the team are chosen by a class captain, elected by the class, and with the assistance of Miss Howes, our Physical Education teacher.

We usually have basketball, baseball, volley ball, and tennis teams during the year. This year we are intending to add track teams to the list. We have a new hockey set added to our athletic equipment, but as the girls are not very experienced in the game we are not planning to have teams in hockey this year.

The girls of Campbell High show much enthusiasm in their sports. That is mostly due to the good coaching of Miss Howes.—M. Gurkovich.

A NEW SPIRIT

This school term has brought with it a new feeling of school spirit. Is it the atmosphere, teachers, or officers? We do not know just which, but we do know that more than general interest is aroused.

In the Girl's League we have created school songs. It has been moved that a constitution be adopted in which dramatics and honors for "big sister work" shall be a part of the League. By "big sister work" is meant the fellowship of the girls in assisting each other and doing little kindnesses to others. It is felt that this plan would create a spirit of friendliness and make better future citizens. We hope a constitution of this kind will be adopted as the girls this year feel they have the stamina to carry it out.

There also has been a general move for parties. The Seniors started by having a successful class-party. It seemed to be contagious, for since that, every class in the school has had a party,

WATER CONSERVATION

Here we are again with another rain and acres of water running to the ocean down our narrow creek beds,—water that next summer we will wish we had in our wells! How can it be saved for use in the drier season? In the San Joaquin valley this question has been answered by building huge storage reservoirs in the rivers and bringing the water when needed for irrigation down to the thirsty land in big ditches. For irrigating lands in San Benito county their engineer recommended reservoirs to store the water of San Benito creek and divert part of the water to the higher lands in ditches but to permit another part of it to percolate to gravel strata under the lower lands which would be irrigated from pumps. Another plan is to store the excess water in reservoirs from which it is spread gradually upon gravel lands to find its way to wells. On the Santa Ana river in San Bernardino county some progressive and far seeing citizens began in 1911 to erect rock barriers in the rocky river bed by which they have forced thousands of acre feet of water into the ground to feed wells on the lower levels.

This list then touches upon four possible methods of saving our wasted flood waters.

1—Storage reservoirs and gravity irrigation system.

2—Storage reservoirs with gravity irrigation system for higher lands and percolation of water with pumping on lower lands.

3—Storage reservoirs and percolation.

4—Percolation only.

These four plans are named in the order of expense of installation with the first as the most expensive. That is, it costs a great deal more money to build reservoirs and a gravity irrigation system than to dam or divert the streams so as to enable the water to percolate into lower gravel strata. If we add the cost of wells and pumps to percolation cost the difference might be slight if any; but as there is an average of one well to 75 or 80 acres of land in our valley, we may be permitted to consider only the cost of saving the water from going to the ocean. By the percolation method the flood waters are stored in a reservoir already prepared underground. The Santa Ana people in the south find that it costs them about 15 cents an acre foot to store water in this way. The county of Los Angeles is constructing a dam 492 feet high in San Gabriel river for flood control and irrigation which is costing about 25 million dollars and will store 240,000 acre feet of water. This is $100 an acre foot for storage cost, and much greater than on the irrigation systems of the San Joaquin.

Because storing by percolation is so cheap and because our valley streams, or lands near by, offer good possibilities for percolation method. If every land owner would pay 50 cents an acre for a few years this association could so arrange dams and ditches as to conserve the larger part of the water which now runs away to the Pacific. Just last week the Association spent $100 for dams and flume on two irrigation ditches near Campbell by which 10 to 15 acre feet of water are put into the gravels every 24 hours. Some wells are going to be helped next summer by that small expense.

When you are asked for a membership in the Valley Water Conservation Association or for a contribution to its work of 50 cents an acre don't hesitate a minute, but say "Sure Mike, here's the money." Better still, don't wait to be asked. The San Jose Chamber of Commerce has set aside a room for an office for the Association where membership and subscription cards may be found. See the Association Director who is a Campbell man,—S. N. Hedegard, J. E. Wiesen-danger, Lloyd Gardner and Ed Howes.

P. G. & E. WILL SPEND $3,000,000

An expenditure of $2,849,391 for construction and maintenance work in the San Jose Division of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, with headquarters at San Jose is planned this year.

San Jose Division takes in the territory south of the San Francisco city limits to Los Gatos. In the San Jose district the gas department's program calls for an expenditure of $67,600 for additions and betterments to the local gas plant. $390,365 will be expended in connection with the San Jose District distribution system. The Company engineers estimate that during the year 1,5000 new gas services will be installed in the San Jose city district. At Los Gatos, where it is estimated that 150 new services will be installed, $18,150 will be expended for new mains.

In the Redwood district, which includes Redwood City and the territory north of Palo Alto, $322,300 will be expended for additional distribution facilities. It is estimated that 2000 new services will be installed in that territory during the year. In the Mountain View-Sunnyvale territory, between Palo Alto and Santa Clara it is estimated that 200 new gas services will be installed. Among major items in the electric department's budget are: an expenditure of $433,000 for new transmission lines; $19,000 for the rebuilding of Los Gatos substation, $173,283 for the installation of an outdoor substation at Agnew, and changes in the distribution lines east of Sunnyvale and north of Santa Clara. $28,700 is to be spent for rearrangement of lines in the vicinity of Alum Rock; $14,555 for auxiliary feeders for the Capital Avenue substation form Agnew; $80,100 for the rearrangement of distribution circuits connecting with the new $250,000 substation at Redwood City; $17,000 for a new substation at Monte Vista; $75,000 for new service buildings at San Mateo.

The Company's general construction program this year calls for an extensive amount of work, including four hydro-electric development jobs. The Pit 4 Development in Shasta County, the Spaulding and Drum Developments in Placer and Nevada Counties, the Salt Springs and Tiger Creek Development on the upper Mokelumne and the completion of the Melones project on the Stanislaus. The total maintenance and construction budget for all departments for the year will aggregate approximately $22,103,000. These expenditures, the Company states, are necessary to meet the growing demands for service. During the past year, 61,026 new consumers were added to the Company's system. The growth and general development of the territory is indicated by the increase in new consumers. The total gain in consumers for the past ten years amounted to 452,930, which is greater than the total number of consumers connected at the close of 1916 which was 421,794. The Kilowatt hours sales for the year 1926 as compared with 1925 show an increase of 121,848,655, or a gain of 12 per cent. The gas department has maintained a steady growth for the past year, with an increase of 7.9 per cent for gas sold.

County Chambers To Have Pavillion

The County Chambers of Commerce Pavilion in the Exposition of Progress at San Jose April 30 to May 7 is now officially assured by the passing of a favorable endorsement by the County Board of Supervisors. At the suggestion of Wendell C. Thomas, President of Santa Clara County Consolidated, and as a result of his describing the program and plans for the Exposition, the Board officially endorsed the County Pavillion idea at their last regular meeting.

Plans now call for the Historical Exhibits and the County Flower Show to be in the County Pavillion as well, so the interest and attendance in that is guaranteed. The floor space, 30x100, affords each city in the county a booth, 30x15, or 450 square feet, with ample space for the big features in the center. Many communities are already making definite plans for their booth and it is an opportunity for advertising the distinctive features of each to the thousands of visitors that will be

SANTA CRUZ PAVING

The last step in promulgating the project to pave Pacific Avenue, main Santa Cruz thoroughfare, was taken when the City Council recently adopted the report ordering the paving and called for bids to be presented and opened on February 17th.

Actual construction will commence within two weeks following the awarding of the contract, and it is hoped to complete the paving before summer.

When there are no more channels to swim the athletes probably will try to have the islands moved farther out from the mainlands.
